

Dear California Coastal Commission's,

My Green Team teacher (Green Team in my school is a class where we learn how to cultivate food and help preserve nature in our school) asked us to write a letter to you guys about Climate Action. I saw the options and I picked the top three where I would like to see take action.

The first action is beach nourishment and replenishment. If we nourish and replenish the beaches, people may get the sense that a beach is a place to learn about animals and the ecosystems, not just to relax and play.

The second action is to develop a new, green stormwater system. With this, we can use the rainwater to drink water from, water gardens and avoid floods. A permeable road might be the best idea, since its bigger than the the storm drains.

The third and final action is to monitoring the beaches. With pictures or videos of what is going on to the beaches, we can get a sense on why the beach's ecosystem is dissolving or how it is dissolving.

That is all that I just want, it's just my opinion on what the California Coastal Commission's should do.

Thank you for the work you are doing!
